Leading Artist: Priyanka Singh Maharjan

“For me, the city as subject matter has continued to proffer endless visual fodder over the time. I could sense the overwhelming presence of growth and change but at the same time, I mostly focus on the part that still remains.”

— Somewhere I come from

Priyanka Singh Maharjan is a Kathmandu based Visual Artist and an Art Facilitator. She completed her Bachelor in Fine Arts degree from Kathmandu University, Centre for Art and Design in 2018.

Her art practices are mostly focused on her past and re-interpretation of memories through diverse mediums. She is currently exploring giving visual structures to intangible but real elements of her past/memories through photographs, embroidery and pen works.

Besides working as an artist, she is involved as an art facilitator in Srijanalaya, a non-profit organization dedicated to alternative forms of art education in Nepal.
